County Board met 61 times in 1979

By RICH ADAMS
The Hancock County School Board has met 61 times between Jan. 1 and Dec. 7 of this year at a per diem and mileage cost to county taxpayers of $7,656, a cost which Board President Woodrow Ladner said is "tripled in the benefits which come as a result of those meetings."

Ladner said Wednesday the meetings were necessary because of a building program being planned for a new school, a plan which was defeated three times in bond issue votes.

In comparison, the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board met 21 times since Jan. 1 at a cost of $1,800 to the taxpayers.

The county board met an average of five times a month at a cost of $20 per member plus mileage each meeting. Board records show that Board Member Johnny Banks received a total of $1,352 for attending 50 meetings. He is paid $27 each meeting.

Louie Ladner received $1,420 for 48 meetings at a cost of some $30 per meeting.

Woodrow Ladner attended all 61 meetings, but, according to law, may only be paid for attending 60 meetings.

His services cost the county $1,872 at $31 per meeting.

Monvel Cuevas made 34 meetings at a cost of $1,126, receiving $33.12 each assembly.

And Oris Ladner was paid $23 for 51 meetings at a cost of $1,183.

The board's secretary is also paid $26 for each weekend meeting she attends, and the board met 27 times on Saturday this year, thus accruing $702 in extra secretarial fees.

"I feel all these meetings were necessary. I am only allowed pay for 60 meetings, and I will not be paid for the rest of the meetings in December."

Bennett vows to ban X-rated movies here

By RICH ADAMS
Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett said Wednesday he will not allow any X-rated movie, such as the Richard Pryor picture he stopped from showing at the Star Theatre Friday night, to be shown in the city "as long as I am in the mayor's seat."

The Pryor movie, however, is R-rated and was recently shown on cable television in this area.

Bennett stopped the showing of 'Richard Pryor in Concert' last Friday night after receiving reports that under-aged children, some as young as 12-years-old, were being allowed unaccompanied into the theatre located on Washington Street and Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis.

Star Theater Manager Kelvin Schultz Wednesday refused comment on the incident.

The mayor said he received the reports of minors being allowed into the theatre and told the police to close the showing and notify parents to pick their children up at the theatre.

Bennett said he would have preferred to close the theatre for a longer period of time, but added he was only able to stop the owner of the theatre from showing the movie Friday evening. "I did not see the movie myself. I received the reports," Bennett said Wednesday.

Bennett added he did not contact Schultz and attempt to make an agreement not to show the movie, but rather ordered the showing stopped.

"I don't know if a city ordinance allows me to stop the showing of a

FTC attack on DuPont may 'stifle American invention'

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The formal dedication of DuPont's $150 million plant was held Monday at DeLisle, Miss.

A theme of "We are pleased to be proud of the dynamic growth of Coastal Mississippi," was expressed by DuPont's chairman of the board Irving S. Shapiro, key speaker for the event.

Governor C. Clifford Finch, commenting after Shapiro's dedication speech said, "Over 500 jobs and a $12 million payroll is good news to any governor."

Governor Finch commented on what hard workers the people of Mississippi are, adding they will give DuPont and any other industry a day's work for a day's pay.

G. B. Howell, DuPont's plant manager at DeLisle, welcomed everyone on the beautiful sunny day.

A total of over 85 percent of the work force at DeLisle are Mississippi natives, according to Shapiro, who also commented on the many challenges by environmental groups.

Shapiro stated, "We never anticipated the volume of challenges." And after the dedication ceremonies which were preceded by a tour of the facilities, invited guests were treated to

Hancock United Way makes campaign goal

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The United Way of Hancock County has reached its 1979 goal of $35,000, according to campaign chairman Mike Benvenuti.

An estimated $3,000 in pledges from Coast Electric Power Association and $7,000 in a Coast-wide Combined Federal Campaign (CFC) funds edged the United Way just over its goal this year, Benvenuti reported.

Along with those estimated pledges, civilian agencies at the National Space Technology Laboratories contributed $9,175 to help the Hancock campaign group reach its 1979 goal.

Contribution reports came during the regular monthly meeting Tuesday of the organization's board of directors in the Valena C. Jones Center in Bay St. Louis.

Norton Haas Sr., Hancock United Way president, reported he expects payroll deductions from industries in Port Bienville Industrial Park in a few days. Executive Secretary Mae Beyer said several annual donations from various local industries are also included in 1979 campaign estimates and are due s on-s.

Benvenuti said, "I would like to thank everyone for their generous donations to our United Way this year. These funds are desperately needed by the 12 agencies our organization helps support."

In other business, the directors tabled recommendations concerning a group insurance plan for the three employees of the local Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) for further study.

The local United Way is the sponsoring organization for RSVP which had to recently cancel health insurance for employees to free funds for salary increases.

RSVP is asking the United Way to find some means of reinstating some

Police question robbery suspect

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Bay St. Louis Police were questioning a male suspect late Wednesday in connection with the Monday robbery of Fahey Drug Company on Railroad Avenue.

The white male suspect fits the description of one of the robbers, according to police who were still interviewing him and have not released his name.

Chief Douglas Williams reports his office received a call at 6:41 p.m. reporting the armed robbery.

The police report states, "Two men with stockings over their faces were described as white males, were both armed, apparently in their 20's, one carrying a 30-30 rifle and the other a large revolver."

"The bandit with the pistol was in the front of the store pointing it at the cashier while the other bandit with the rifle forced owner Don Favre into the back room where he demanded drugs and approximately $50 in cash. The two

Chief Richard Fayard resigns

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Bay St. Louis Fire Chief Richard Fayard submitted his resignation to the city Monday which is effective Jan. 2, 1980.

However, before Fayard leaves his Bay St. Louis position he will submit plans for a new fire station for the Cedar Point area.

Fayard said, "I will be the new fire chief for the National Space Technology Laboratories starting Jan. 2, 1980. The only reason I'm leaving is because of the increased salary and benefits NSTL is offering me."

"It has been a hard decision because of the three administrations I've served, the present administration has been the best. Anything I've asked for the betterment of the fire department, I've always gotten," Fayard

Rogers James named North Bay principal

By RICH ADAMS

Bay Junior High Assistant Principal Rogers James was named interim principal at North Bay Elementary Monday, replacing Hancock County Superintendent-Elect Billy Sills at that school.

The Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board unanimously accepted Superintendent J.D. McCullough's recommendation that James replace Sills, who takes office in the county school system Jan. 1.

"I feel he will do a good job as the principal at North Bay for the remainder of the term," McCullough said as he announced the appointment.

"At the end of the year we will evaluate Mr. James' performance with all parties involved," McCullough said, indicating James may become the full-time principal at that school.

Board Member Maurice Singleton's motion to approve James as the interim principal was approved unanimously. Board Member Betty Diboll asked who will replace James at the Junior High School.

"We will immediately begin interviews with personnel within and without our district and try to get someone at the Junior High," McCullough answered.

City plans Christmas ceremony

Joan Bennett, chairman of Christmas at City Hall, has invited the public to the third annual tree lighting ceremonies Friday, at 4 p.m. on the City Hall lawn.

This is an event I look forward to every year," Mrs. Bennett said. "The mayor and I take a great deal of pride in sharing Christmas with the citizens of Bay St. Louis and their children."

Santa Claus will arrive at City Hall on a fire truck with a sack full of candy to give out to the children, and refreshments will be served.

Entertainment will be provided by Kenta Maloney on harpsicord and Susan Burch, soloist.

A traditional live manger scene will be portrayed by students from Christ Episcopal Day School.

Children wishing to bring an ornament with their name on it to hang on the City Hall tree are invited to do so, Ms. Bennett said.

In other business, the owner of a company which holds a maintenance contract with the school machinery took issue with newspaper reports of the November board meeting at which the board took under advisement payment of a bill.

Bill Pitcairn, owner of Pitco and Pitcairn & Co. in Bay St. Louis, accused the press of printing inaccurate statements about charges his company billed to the school district.

The issue stems from the Nov. 12 board meeting, at which a bill from Pitco for repair of a kitchen dishwasher motor in the amount of $254 was taken under advisement.

Pitco's contract was due to be renewed at that meeting, and a letter from the company reported a 7.5 percent increase of $165 on the yearly maintenance agreement.

The board discussed the repairs to the dishwasher motor, noting that 11 hours were required to rewind the motor.

Board Member Walter Turcotte commented at the November meeting that labor charges amounted to $23.10 per hour on the repairs, adding materials for the repair were extra.

Monday evening Pitcairn said Turcotte's earlier assessment of the labor charges was incorrect.

Pitcairn further accused the press of having a "poor attitude."

Pitcairn feels newspaper reports on last month's board meeting were "inaccurate" and "did not make too much sense."

The engineer then explained the purpose of his two companies, itemizing and pricing jobs in the millions of dollars which his companies have completed on the Coast.

"One problem is that you (the press) are probably not familiar with the situation. We are in our ninth year here at this school," Pitcairn said.

"The school was built in 1965 or 1966, and we began (our maintenance program) here in 1971. This is not unusual," he continued.

He said the machinery was not in good condition when his company began their maintenance, and added, "The administration was pleased to have the equipment (put back) in good shape."

"In 1972 the school began having problems with kitchen equipment and we added $120 to the contract which made the cost $2,100," Pitcairn said.

"If you are familiar with the cost of mechanical work, this year's seven percent increase does not begin to cover our equipment increase," he continued.

Pitcairn then explained in detail what he pays mechanics in labor fees.

"We increased our labor costs 45 days ago. We charge $18.50 for one mechanic and $27.50 for two men. We also stock some $6,000 to $7,000 of parts which are not available in local supply houses," the engineer said.

"The very thing you criticized, the dishwasher, is not domestic," Pitcairn told the board.

the motor, as was in the newspapers. Another shop in Gulfport had to do that," he continued.

"We had to get down on the floor where it is dirty. We did not just rewind

"We removed the pump and the motor, and did not charge a cent to haul them to Gulfport. We discovered some bolts were broken off the mount, which is not unusual," Pitcairn told the board.

"We had to drill and tap new holes, and then we discovered the contacts in the starter had fused, and the start-stop button had been broken," he continued.

"We re-installed the pump and motor which is a fair amount of work," he stated.

"We bill by the minute, and we spent 12 total hours on the job and charged $254. That is $21.03 per hour," Pitcairn said.

He then said two men worked on the job, including working on a Saturday for which the school system was not charged time-and-a-half.

"I don't feel we overcharged," Pitcairn said.

School Patron Charles Gottschalk then asked to address the board, and stated he has known Pitcairn for some years and added "Bill is ethical and professional."

The board apologized for any misunderstanding, and Board Attorney Lucien Gex commented, "The board has no control over the papers. You think you have problems."

Pitcairn concluded by saying, "The papers could perform a better service to the community if they took a different attitude about things."

Also at Monday's meeting the board approved some $27,000 in bills for renovations at the Junior High School, repairs due to fire and smoke damage at the Senior High School, and a re-roofing project at Waveland Elementary School.

The Junior High classroom renovation bill was for $5,000, and a separate bill for School Architect Fred Wagner for services was for $255, six percent of the total cost of the project.

The bill for repairs at the Senior High was $10,536, and Wagner's bill for services was $263, or one-quarter of 10 percent of the total cost.

The Waveland re-roofing project bill was in the amount of $10,425, the final payment on a job costing $30,809.

Wagner's fees were $421, six percent of the total cost.

Also at the meeting Diboll said she has received complaints from parents that some of the classrooms at the Junior High and the S.J. Ingram Building are cold, and asked if McCullough would look into the matter.

McCullough explained that there is one gas space heater in each classroom at the schools, and added he is "right on top of the issue."

"We have purchased thermometers and will place them in classrooms. If it is unusually cold, either larger heating units will be purchased or an additional heater will be placed in the classroom."

The board adjourned until its next regular meeting on Jan. 8.

explained. Fayard said, "The proposed new fire station will give city residents a Class 6 rating (a higher rating) which will give everyone a reduction on insurance premiums."

"The new station will probably be on the corner of Dunbar Avenue and Julia Street with one fire truck and two men initially and eventually growing to two trucks... this is a five year plan," Fayard stated.

Fayard added that construction should begin by June 1980.

Concerning Fayard's replacement, Mayor Larry Bennett said, "I haven't appointed anyone on a temporary or permanent basis yet because I haven't discussed this with the city council."

"I hate to see him leave because he has done a good job for the city. He's very conscientious and has done extremely well upgrading the fire department. He is constantly striving for more personnel and improved equipment," Bennett explained.

"I wish him well in his new venture," Bennett added.

Real Estate

BY GAIL PRESSMAN, GRI

REALTOR

WHAT GOES WITH HOUSE?

Real estate is usually defined as the land and everything attached to it, such as: buildings, trees, shrubs, etc. The buyer normally gets all of the real estate, but none of the owner's personal property. The problem arises when personal property has become a part of the real estate. This is called a fixture and does pass with the real estate.

There are three usual tests which must be satisfied. Has the personal property been permanently annexed to the real estate? Is it intended to become part of the real estate? And finally, what is the local custom? Usual fixtures might include: shades, heaters, ranges, screens, storm windows, lighting fixtures, etc.

It is important that the seller spell out specifically in his sales agreement exactly what he intends to give to the buyer as part of real estate. This will save misunderstanding at the closing, and sometimes save a sale.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at PRESSMAN REALTY, 1332 Hwy. 90 W., Waveland. Phone 467-2224. We're here to help!

Editorial

Why do others take Mississippians place?

In all probability we in Mississippi have been letting other states take advantage of us in many areas, especially in young men and women attending the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

We are told that we should have at least 35 midshipmen attending Annapolis, so many from each representative and senator, and at this time there is a total of only 20 in the Navy school for officers.

When the time rolls around each year for a new class to begin at Annapolis, many slots allocated to Mississippians are filled by young men and women from other states because of a lack of qualified applicants.

We know there have been several natives of Hancock County to attend the Academy, but at this time we do not have any. Long Beach now has three and Ocean Springs one midshipmen.

In order for a young man or woman to attend Annapolis, they first must have the grades and also be physically fit.

The few days we were there last week really gave us the indication that only a few can qualify.

On the same token, we feel there must be many local students who could qualify at the Naval Academy if they are informed and are interested in receiving one of the best educations.

Estimates on the cost for the four years of vigorous physical and mental education for midshipmen is $89,000.

Now we realize there is an obligation to fill after graduation, but, it sure seems to be worth the few years for the quality education received.

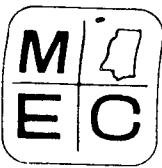

If you are a student in the ninth through senior year and would like to attend the Naval Academy and think you can qualify, talk to your guidance counselor.

Many guidance counselors made the journey to Annapolis, and all came away as impressed as we were with everything about the Academy.

A young person interested in the younger years can take certain subjects in high school which will help him or her possibly qualify.

We are fortunate to have in our area CDR Shaw at NSTL, who is the "Navy Blue and Gold" information officer in the area.

If any of you have any questions about the Naval Academy and your guidance counselor cannot help you, we are sure Dr. Shaw would be glad to talk to you, his number is 688-4700.

News

The federal bureaucracy, like the weather, seems something everyone talks about but does nothing about. Unfortunately, no one can control the weather—a statement which also seems to apply to government.

A news report from Texas A & M University's Center for Education and Research in Free Enterprise reveals, among other things, that it is hard for today's farmers to operate without stepping on some government bureaucrat. In 1960 the Department of Agriculture had 84,000 employees; by 1977 that roster had grown to 127,000. This represents one bureaucrat per 117 farmers in 1960 but one per 33 farmers in 1977.

Other points the Free Enterprise Center urged taxpayers to consider include:

—In 1960 workers in private enterprise earned 76 percent of what federal employees did but 61 percent of what civil servants got by 1977.

—Congressional employment was up 61 percent in a recent 16-year period. In 1969 there were 7,000 congressional employees, but by 1976 the list had grown to 18,000.

Where has this trend led us—to deficits in the federal budget for 25 years and surpluses for only eight years since 1946. The surpluses added up to $33 billion while the deficits reached $146 billion.

The Mississippi Economic Council recommends that Congress require economy in the federal government by reducing spending requests which do not impair essential federal government functions.

And, the Council recommends that the president be required to submit budgets to Congress in which proposed expenditures shall not exceed his estimate of revenue. Should Congress authorize expenditures in excess of estimated revenue, it should not recess or adjourn for more than three days at a time until action is taken to balance the budget for the coming fiscal year.

The MEC realizes that government moves slowly and a broad-based public outcry is necessary to quicken the movement. It also recommends that every citizen be made aware of the responsibilities of citizenship as well as the mechanics of government, and then demand excellence in government through the intelligent exercise of such knowledge.

We think the football rivalry between Bay High and St. Stanislaus is very competitive in Bay St. Louis.

On our visit to Annapolis last week we found that the rivalry between Navy and Army is probably one of the most intense in the nation.

Everyone, even the Plebes, were very happy with Navy's victory over Army in football the weekend before and they let everyone know their feelings.

It goes so far that better meals are served if Navy beats Army in the annual classic. We can guess the same thing happens at West Point also if Army is victorious.

Congratulations are in order for Mr. Leo Seal Jr. on his being selected as the Outstanding Citizen by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce for 1979.

Mr. Leo, as many of us know him by, is involved in many areas which have helped the development of Hancock County over the years.

The Outstanding Citizen is just one of the many awards won by Mr. Leo, and he being a native of Hancock County and resident of Bay St. Louis makes us proud to know him.

The State Highway Department has to be commended on the installation of the new reflector signs on US-90 in Henderson Point.

There is a serious series of curves and the new signs are the best we have seen for giving directions to motorists.

You know we are all familiar with the curves on 90 in Henderson Point, but they must be a shock to a person seeing them for the first time.

It is good the Highway Department constructed the new signs, and we hope all of us will tell them how much we appreciate them.

It is a very busy season for many folks, even Santa, at this time of the year.

We are happy to see the Tiger Pride Band Aides offering a visit from Santa service again this year. It sure would be nice to have Santa visit a bunch of youngsters at a special party, etc.

We hope many of you will use the special services offered by the group which gives so much of their time in helping our Tiger Pride Band.

Anyone interested in the Rent-A-Santa can call 467-3748, 467-4162 or 467-9779. We hope Santa will get many calls.

What a lovely Christmas Tree we have in Hancock County at the Bay bridge.

Going back for many years, we feel the one selected this year by Dick Thomas and Jerry Benigno of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce has to be the best yet.

The decorations, put up by Bailey Electric, make the tree a real Christmas one.

The County has to thank Mr. Albert Shaw for his generosity in selling the tree to the Chamber at a low price. It might have cost hundreds of dollars elsewhere.

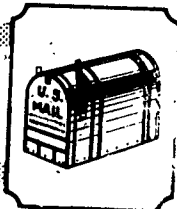

To the Chamber of Commerce, Dick Thomas, Jerry Benigno, Sonny Bailey, Albert Shaw and all of those who helped deliver the tree to the site, we say thank you for a job well done.

A special thanks to Jeannette Monti Purchner, chairman for the special events, for a wonderful Christmas tree lighting ceremony.

And thanks also to Mississippi Power Company for keeping the tree lit for us.

Wave Pool dedication

Dec. 18 open to the public

The public is cordially invited to attend the dedication ceremony for the new wave pool complex at Buccaneer State Park, Waveland, Tuesday, Dec. 18, at 2 p.m.

The $1.7 million dollar facility is the first wave pool for Mississippi, and one of six in the southeastern United States. Governor Cliff Finch will be present for the dedication ceremony, which will conclude with a demonstration of the live water wave action swimming pool. The ceremony will take place at the wave pool complex near the front entrance to the park.

Buccaneer State Park is located on the Gulf of Mexico. For further information about the dedication, contact the park at 467-3822.

Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir:

RE-ITEM: Sea Coast Echo, Dec. 6, 1979—"Survey shows: Viet Veterans were suckers"

This had no by-line so I must assume the item reflects editorial opinion. It is not my intent to be argumentative except to whether or not a survey of 1,200 is, or could be, a reflection of the persuasion of 235 million people. As for the public being aware of benefit programs operated by the VA, you are misinformed or out of touch. By and large, the veteran doesn't even know.

Concerning your reference to mental disorders, drugs and related problems, and the imprisoned:

Though honorable discharged or otherwise eligible 81.3 percent have on idea what their rights are; 53.3 percent assumed they had lost them. (Cong. Chas. B. Rangel, Dem. N.Y.)

On health care: With more and more of the nation's 30 million-plus veterans dependent on the VA health facilities, many VA hospitals are close to losing accreditation for failure to meet proper standards of patient care.

At this writing VA facilities at Fort Lyons, Col. and the psychiatric Department at Dallas Va Center have already lost accreditation. (Nat. Commander, DAV, Billy O. Hightower)

To meet minimum standards of hospital patient care the 95th Congress added $140 million to the president's VA budget for fiscal 1978-1979.

But, in an economy move, that money is tied up in the president's Office of Budget and Management.

Public funds for private enterprise reflects official arrogance

Dear Editor:

A review of history should convince our elected leaders that a revolt of the average citizen is inevitable when those who govern assume special privileges and display arrogance.

Complete disregard for the interest of the populace-at-large feeds national revolutions.

On a small scale such practices are bought at the high price of losing the good will and respect of fellow citizens. Such a loss is usually reflected at the next general election.

Yes, I do speak of public funds for private enterprise!

It has been almost 179 years since Thomas Jefferson in his first inaugural address (Nov. 4, 1801) spelled out the conditions necessary for a happy and prosperous people.

"A wise and frugal government which shall restrain men from injuring one another, which shall leave them free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and shall not take from the mouth of labor the bread it has earned. This is the sum of good government," spoke Jefferson. Jefferson stood firm for freedom of religion, freedom of the press and trial by impartially selected juries.

In concluding that memorable speech he said: "Should we ever wander from these principles in moments of error or alarm, let us hasten to retrace our steps and to regain the road which alone leads to peace, liberty and safety."

Jefferson's principles of government: equal and exact justice to all men; friendship with all nations—entangling alliances with NONE; a sacred preservation of public faith; economy in public expense. These were the principles that made America great.

Is it about time for us to review—to re-think—and retrace our steps?

Governor extends invitation to mansion open house

My Dear Friends:

As Christmas draws near, I want to take this opportunity to wish each and every one of you the happiest holiday ever! But while we enjoy the festivities, let us not forget our responsibilities to ourselves and our fellow man.

In this, my last Christmas as your Governor, let me express to you my sincere appreciation for the honor of serving as your Governor for the past four years.

I want to invite each of you to my Annual Christmas Party to be held on Saturday, Dec. 15, beginning at 7 p.m.

at your Governor's Mansion. This will be an open house with several groups providing entertainment. I am also expecting a visit from Santa Claus. I hope to see each of you there.

It is my hope that you and all your loved ones have a very Merry Christmas, and that God will continue to bless each of you the rest of your lives.

Educators tour Naval Academy

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

More than 50 Mississippi school principals and guidance counselors were escorted by Commander R.H. Shaw, USN, on a visit to the United States Naval Academy last week.

CDR Shaw, the Naval Academy information officer for the Hancock County area, is stationed at the U.S. Naval Oceanographic Office at NSTL and resides in Bay St. Louis.

Guidance counselors Phillip Brandon, Bay Junior High; Brother Bennett, St. Stanislaus; and Nancy Smith, Hancock North Central in addition to CDR Shaw and Ellis Cuevas, publisher, Sea Coast Echo participated in the four-day visit to the Academy.

Mrs. Barbara Stewart, Coast Episcopal High School, Pass Christian and George E. Taquino, III, Long Beach Junior High counselor, also attended.

Newsman Eric Sumlin and cameraman Robert Allen of WLOX-TV, Biloxi accompanied the group which also included others from the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

The group was flown by the Navy from Jackson Airport to Andrews Air Force Base, Washington, D.C. Tuesday and returned Friday evening.

At the Naval Academy, the educators viewed a midshipmen's life at military school where the emphasis is on physical, mental and moral growth of its young men and women.

Midshipmen from Mississippi escorted the group at dinner in the wardroom.

All phases of the education facility were reviewed and briefings held by the deans of admissions, chaplain, U.S. and international studies, English and history, Nimitz Library, minority affairs, math and science, engineering and weapons, and professional development.

A greeting of welcome was given by Rear Admiral William P. Lawrence, who was inducted into the Hall of Fame Wednesday in New York.

A film was shown titled "Annapolis, The First Year," and a cruise on a YP (Midshipmen training vessel) given all the educators.

The academy's impressive sports facilities were shown and a briefing on athletic events varsity and intramural in which the midshipmen compete was given.

The Naval Academy takes pride in the fact that the student-per-instructor ratio is 7 to 1.

The Navy officials reminded the group that Mississippi only has 20 midshipmen at Annapolis while the state should have at least 35.

Four midshipmen are former residents of the Gulf Coast, three from Long Beach and one from Ocean Springs.

Dennis Dickenson, in his first year at Annapolis, a former news carrier and circulation employee of The Sea Coast Echo in an interview stated, "We keep busy from 6 a.m. to 11 p.m. at night. The only time we have to ourselves is Sunday mornings, and the rest of the time it is school work, sports and I was lucky enough to make the debate team."

Dickenson is looking forward to his Christmas leave which will give him about 17 days home.

The class of 1980 will be the first with girls graduating at Annapolis.

Robin Druce, New Orleans, and a visitor to Bay St. Louis in previous summers, commented on the very good education she has attained at the Academy.

Midshipmen Druce just missed making All-American in fencing, one of the women's sporting activities at the Naval school.

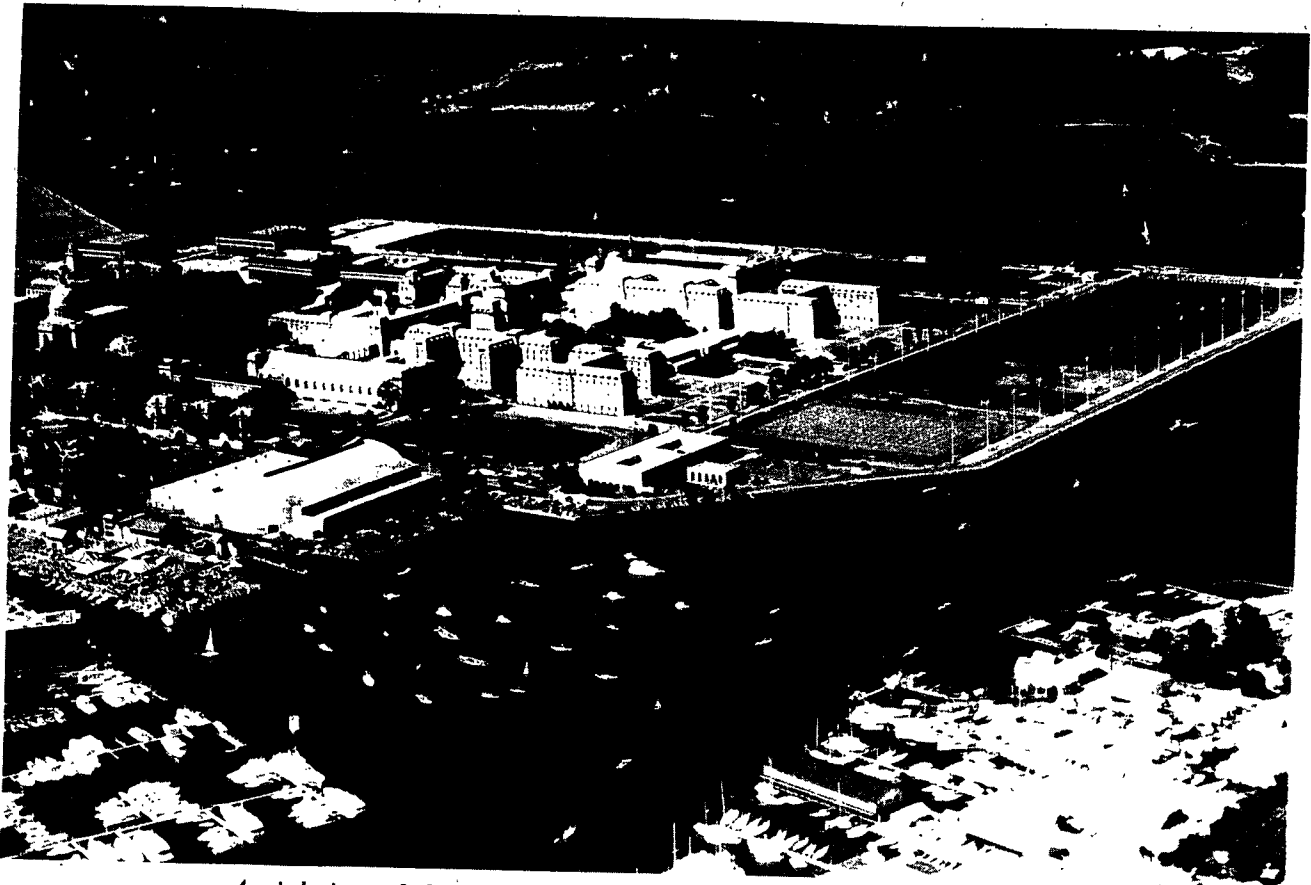

Ms. Druce younger brother got her interested in the Academy and now is also a midshipman. Their appointments were made by Congresswoman Lindsey Boggs.

Dickenson said he set his sights on the Naval Academy when he was in the eighth grade. His appointment was made by Congressman Trent Lott.

The midshipmen interviewed all commented on the quality education offered.

The group was given a personal tour of Congress by Congressman Montgomery of the third Mississippi District before returning Friday.

The Sea Coast Echo will carry further articles on the lives of the young men and women at Annapolis.

Bishop to open new Dock concert series

By RANDY PONDER

The Dock of the Bay in Bay St. Louis reports the club will present the first of a new "concert series" Saturday, with Capricorn recording artist Elvin Bishop.

Bishop, who grew up on a farm outside of Tulsa, Oklahoma, has had a long and prosperous recording career that began in the mid 1960's.

As a National Merit Scholarship winner Bishop enrolled at the University of Chicago.

On the first day of classes the 18-year old Bishop met a young blues harmonica player named Paul Butterfield.

This association was the beginning of Elvin's off-campus studies in Chicago's South Side Blues Clubs where Bishop, Butterfield, and their friend, Mike Bloomfield, were the only white kids spunky enough to sit in with the veteran blues greats.

These jam sessions eventually led to the formation of the Paul Butterfield Blues Band.

Bishop recorded at least five albums with this band before pursuing a career of his own with The Elvin Bishop Group.

Elvin's first solo album, "The Elvin Bishop Group," in 1969 was followed by "Feel It" and by his third album, "Rock My Soul" (1973).

He had developed a unique style of his own consisting of a hodgepodge of rock and roll, rhythm and blues, country, swing, gospel and tight instrumental harmonies.

A chance meeting and friendship with Allman Brothers guitarist Dicky Betts resulted gave Bishop solid hits with "Travellin' Shoes," "Struttin' My Stuff" and finally a million-dollar gold record with "Fooled Around and Fell in Love."

Bishop's latest albums, "Hometown Boy Makes Good," "Raisin' Hell" and "Hog Heaven" have also done exceptionally well on the charts.

The combination of Bishop's humor with a tight band, excellent playing and a variety of styles infused with personality continues to show audiences a great time.

Bishop will perform two shows, one at 10 p.m. and one at midnight. Tickets are available at the Dock of the Bay.

Mindy Dodson picked at PRC

MINDY DODSON

Mary Brooks of Poplarville and Joey Shelton of Oak Grove have been elected Mr. and Miss Pearl River Junior College in a campus wide election.

In the same election Doug Douglas, Columbia; Richard Foley, New Orleans; Charles Lee, Picayune; Vicki Grantham, Picayune; Lynette Laiche and Ann Odom of Poplarville were elected PRC's Sophomore Class Favorites.

Winning Freshman Class Favorite positions were Mindy Dodson, Bay St. Louis, Jan Guade, Picayune; Suzanne McSwain, Bogalusa; Mark Tolar, Purvis; Terry Graham, Columbia and Andy Deal of Columbia.

Ms. Dodson is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M.L. Dodson and was voted Most Likely to Succeed at Bay High School last year as a senior.

She received the American Legion Award and The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Award. While in High School, Miss Dodson was an Alpha Honor Roll student, vice-president of the student council, president of the French Club.

Woodrow Ladner said Wednesday.

"I believe all the meetings were productive. One or two could possibly have been held over, but I think it is good to keep our thumb on the pulse of what is going on in the district," Ladner continued.

"I know the cost is high, but I believe we have produced triple that amount for the county at these meetings," he added.

"The cost is far exceeded by the benefits to the district," Ladner said. The board was criticized by a local teachers' union early in the year and was threatened with a court suit for conducting meetings on weekdays in the morning.

The Hancock County Local of the American Federation of Teachers had obtained a court order in 1978 instructing the board to meet at a time which was convenient to teachers.

Earlier this year the board met on weekday mornings, and the local AFT threatened them with an additional court action.

The board then changed its policy, and met the first Monday night of the month at 6 p.m. and met almost every other Saturday morning at 9 a.m.

The board's minute books show that the board met four times each in March and October; five times in January, February, June.

The body assembled six times in May, July, September, and November; and met seven times in August, when the bond issue was first offered for a vote, according to the board's records.

The county board has met twice in December and has slated a redistricting discussion Saturday morning.

Regular meetings have accounted for 12 of the assemblies, in addition to 46 recess meetings, and three special meetings.

The Bay School Board has met in 12 regular meetings and nine special meetings, most of which were not announced to the public and school patrons.

Bay School Board President Virginia Gex attended 21 meetings this year at a cost of $420.

Former Board Member Robert Hamilton attended meetings five times at a cost of $100 before he left office in February.

Walter Turcotte attended 20 meetings during the year at a cost of $400, and Maurice Singleton attended 15 meetings and was paid $300.

Betty Diboll and James Ginn were elected in March to replace outgoing board members, and Ms. Diboll has since attended 16 meetings at a cost of $320.

Ginn has attended 13 meetings and has been paid $280.

movie, but whether there is such an ordinance or not, I will not allow that sort of a movie to be shown in Bay St. Louis as long as I am in the mayor's seat," Bennett said Wednesday.

"This town is too small and there are too many good, decent people in it to tolerate the showing of such a movie," he added.

Bennett said the reports of minors being allowed unaccompanied into the theatre came from local police, but he would not comment as to where the police received complaints.

No arrests were made during the incident. Assisting in the closing were Assistant Police Chief Frank Hess and Officers Alton Benoit and Gordon Campbell.

Legal sources differed in opinion Wednesday as to whether the mayor had a legal power to close the theatre without first obtaining a court order or injunction.

One source indicated there is no state law which allows the mayor to take such action.

"There are certain state laws which he (Bennett) could have gone at the problem with, such as contributing to the delinquency of a minor or public nuisance, but I don't see how he could have the authority to just go in and close the theatre," the attorney said.

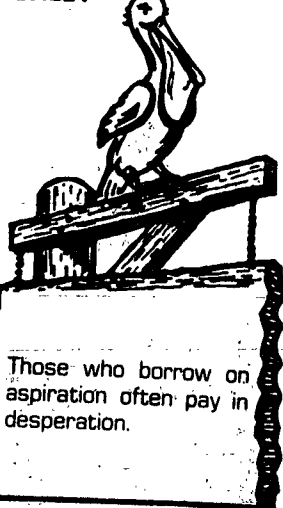

"As the head of the police department, the mayor may have some power under the city ordinances," he added. Another source said the mayor is entitled to take such action under a state law.

"If an unsatisfactory movie is shown, the mayor has the power to cut the showing off," that attorney revealed.

"If the movie does not meet the criteria, such as underage children being allowed into an X-rated movie, the mayor has the power under state law to shut it down," he added.

A description of one of the subjects was given as 5 feet-9 inches tall, slender build, weighing 150 pounds, the other is reported as 5 feet-7 inches, stocky build, angular face, weighing 180 pounds.

Investigating officers are Chief Williams, Larry Ladner, Alton Benoit and Daniel Palsance assisted by Waveland, Investigator, Robert Tratavoules and Sandra Henley.

FARMERS' ETHICAL STANCE

Mississippi farm people in convention last week in Jackson wove into their varied policy statements a certain moral fiber that faithfully avoided a lukewarmness toward moral issues of the time.

Delegates to the 58th annual meeting of the Mississippi Farm Federation conceivably may have added gristle to their oft-considered 'backbone of the nation' image by addressing key sins with straight-to-the-point considerations.

This convention was the first time the delegates addressed the abortion issue.

Of it they said: "We believe that the arbitrary taking of life at any stage of development is wrong. Therefore, we support the position of alternatives to abortion through counseling, education, and referral to adoption and emergency civil agencies. We further support the pro-life legislation at both state and national level. No federal or state funds should be used for abortion purposes."

Concerning homosexuality, the delegates reaffirmed an earlier position strongly supporting the rights of those who speak out against homosexuality.

Specifically, the farm groups said, "We believe the establishment of homosexual or gay studies, the hiring of homosexual teachers, administrators, or counselors, and the establishment of homosexual clubs, as an accepted part of the school programs, would create an emotional and mental health hazard for children. We, therefore, oppose the implementation of 'Gay Studies' programs in our nation's schools."

Pornography, the contemporary term for dirty pictures, got a bad rating by the farm family organization. The delegates deplored the exposure of both youth and adults to a heavy volume of pornographic publications and programs from movies, theatres, newsstands, bookstores, and to some degree, television.

The delegates urged the public to become active through personal contacts or letters to theatre owners, movie production companies, publishers, newsstand operators, television stations and networks, and program sponsors seeking their support and cooperation in controlling "this menace to the moral fiber of our nation."

Both use and traffic in drug substances was opposed as the group urged courts and law enforcement officials to deal severely with those engaged in the illegal distribution and sale of alcoholic beverages, narcotics, and drugs. The group recommended that guilty persons receive punishment at least equal to that for assault with intent to kill. In a final word they opposed the legalization of marijuana.

Religious life itself was addressed by the Farm Bureau delegates as they reaffirmed that the national life is founded on spiritual faith and belief in God. "Accordingly, they favored leaving "In God We Trust" on coins and "Under God" in the Pledge of Allegiance. Unrestrained distribution of the Bible was advocated as the delegates described one of man's inalienable rights to worship God, to offer prayers, and read the Bible as God's word in private and public places including schoolrooms.

The right to offer voluntary prayers in public schools was advocated at both state and national levels. Prayer, according to the Farm Bureau resolution, serves as a means of perpetuation of the principles on which this nation was founded.

Problem solving, the group said, involves a recognition of spiritual and moral values. They asserted that the proper role of churches is to provide guidance on the moral and spiritual aspects of social and economic problems, rather than to lobby for or otherwise promote specific governmental actions.

And lastly, the farm

LIBRARY SCIENCE COURSE

Library services aimed at children and young adults will be explored in a new graduate course to be taught next semester through the Ole Miss Graduate School of Library and Information Science. The course, Library Service to Children and Young Adults, will offer practical experience to those who anticipate dealing with young people in school and public libraries and will be helpful to adults who organize activities and programs in youth groups, summer camps and church-related organizations, according to course instructor Carolyn Baggett.

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY WEATHER & CROP REPORT

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY WEATHER AND CROP REPORT, Week Ending: December 9, 1979

WEATHER SUMMARY (National Weather Service): The week was cool and generally dry. Isolated heavy amounts occurred in thundershowers on Thursday, mainly in coastal section. The greatest 24-hour total was 1.80 inches at Merrill.

Temperature extremes ranged from 14 degrees at University, Lexington and Tupelo on the 3rd to 70 degrees at Port Gibson on the 6th. Temperatures for the week ranged from 6 to 13 degrees below normal. Sunny mild days and clear cool nights prevailed during the weekend.

CROP SUMMARY: Favorable weather conditions during the week enabled most farmers to complete harvesting. Harvesting, fall plowing, liming and planning for the 1980 crop year were the main farm activities. Pasture growth was slowed by cold weather. Feed supplies were in good shape.

Soil moisture was mostly adequate with some scattered surplus. There were 4.1 days suitable for fieldwork, up from last week's 2.0 days and 1.7 days for the same week last year.

Soybean acreage was 98 percent harvested compared to 99 percent last year and 93 percent for the five year average.

Cotton acreage was 95 percent harvested, behind last year's 100 percent but ahead of the 93 percent average.

Pecans were 85 percent harvested compared to 75 percent last year and 85 percent average.

Winter wheat was 97 percent planted compared to 98 percent for last year. The crop was in good to fair condition.

Pasture conditions were fair to good.

Livestock conditions were good to fair.

Hay and roughage supplies were mostly adequate with some scattered surplus.

Feed grain supplies were adequate.

Diesel, gasoline and L.P. gas supplies were adequate.

COMMENTS

a dinner at the Pass Christian Yacht Club.

Shapiro was presented an honorary membership to the Yacht Club for one year and a citizenship of Harrison County.

The text of the board chairman for DuPont was as follows at the dedication:

"I'm pleased to be here and to participate in this dedication. DeLisle is a very special plant to us. Like a parent who has raised a child through a troubled adolescence to adulthood, we have hurdled many legal obstacles in the development of this plant.

"Now that it is complete, we feel a special pride of accomplishment that we want to share. This plant would not be a reality without the assistance of many of you here today and we thank you for your support.

"DeLisle, as well as any plant in memory, illustrates realities in the chemical industry today. Our business is international in scope. It often involves enormous stakes. We make a variety of products, many of them essential to the economy and our lifestyles.

"Titanium dioxide is an excellent example. But our business is also closely regulated and environmentally suspect. This combination of realities is characterized in the DeLisle plant and that is what I'd like to discuss today.

"DeLisle is a world scale plant. It is coming on-stream at a time when the worldwide demand for titanium dioxide, known in the trade as TiO₂, is rising.

"With a design capacity of 150,000 tons per year, DeLisle is the largest TiO₂ plant of its type in the world.

To manufacture titanium dioxide here, we begin with a black ore mined in Australia. The ore is reacted with chlorine in the presence of carbon. The result is titanium tetrachloride, which is called 'tickle'. The tickle is combined with oxygen to form TiO₂, which is then cooled, treated and comes out of the plant as a pure white powder.

TiO₂ is used throughout the world in products where whiteness and brightness are important. Toothpaste, plastics, paper and man-made textile fibers are examples.

"But the biggest application by far is in paints and other surface coatings. The ability of high-quality paint to cover in one coat is the main difference the consumer recognizes, and the covering ability is the direct result of the amount of TiO₂ in the paint.

"The average gallon of paint contains about 1.5 pounds of TiO₂. Top quality paint contains about three pounds per gallon or more.

"In this country alone, annual production of paint is one billion gallons. Most of the production of the DeLisle plant will supply this industry.

"DeLisle will also play an important role in our international business. Our sales of TiO₂ outside the United States are growing. This plant will ship product to Japan, Australia and other countries in the Asia-Pacific region, to Europe and to several countries in Latin America.

"The stakes are high in this business. This plant cost over $150 million to build. It incorporates today's most sophisticated technology for producing TiO₂. The technology enables us to make the best titanium dioxide product in the United States at the lowest cost, bar none. Ask the FTC.

"As I'm sure you know, the Federal Trade Commission has filed an antitrust case against Du Pont. The FTC staff says our TiO₂ technology gives us an unfair advantage in the marketplace.

"The FTC says we produce the finished product at less cost than our competitors and that we are willing to pass on the savings to our customers in the form of lower prices.

"This, in the FTC's opinion, gives us a control of the marketplace, and that is not good. So, the FTC would have us share our technology with our competitors and sell two plants, including this one. Needless to say, we disagree.

"This case is important. It attacks the heart of the American free enterprise system. If an inventor - large company or entrepreneur - cannot use his innovation to his benefit in the marketplace, there is little incentive to invent or invest funds in research activities.

NEWS CONFERENCE - Irving S. Shapiro, chairman of the board, E. I. DuPont de Nemours and Company, Inc., holds news conference after dedication ceremonies Monday. (Staff photo - Ellis Cuevas)

"Research is an expensive and risky business and if the FTC wins this case, I believe the decision will significantly stifle American innovation.

"The first round of the case was decided in our favor. In September, FTC Administrative Law Judge Miles J. Brown dismissed the charges. He said, 'I can find no conduct that can be considered 'unfair' within the meaning of the Federal Trade Commission Act.'

"The FTC staff appealed Judge Brown's ruling and the case is likely to be tied up in the administrative and legal process for some time. In the end, we are confident that we the industry's performance in the environmental area.

"But don't judge us as an industry; judge us as a company and by the performance of this plant.

"DeLisle is the prototype of the modern chemical plant. It will win and keep this plant and be your neighbors for a long time to come.

"We intend to be good neighbors. That doesn't mean that Gordon Howell will be leaning over the back fence of the plant discussing the day's news. It does mean that to the best of our ability, we will work in harmony with this community and the environment.

"In the process of building this plant we obtained 31 permits from various Federal, state and local government agencies. We met legal challenges on a number of environmental questions. Some are still in the courts.

"While frustrating, the suspicion of our environmental intent is not surprising. The chemical industry as a whole ranks near the bottom of every opinion poll when it comes to rating is designed and will operate the cleanest TiO₂ production process in the country.

"We have invested over $20 million in pollution control facilities. We have built safeguards into the pollution control system and will do our level best to maintain the surrounding environment in its current state.

"That includes the natural beauty of this magnificent site. We are maintaining about 2,000 acres of the site in a natural state and we're improving the area through modern forestry management techniques.

"We have no plans to expand the plant, but if we did, the majority of this land would be maintained as you see it today.

"There are two other criteria by which we ask to be judged as a good neighbor. First is our contribution to the economy of the community. Second is our ability to provide safe and satisfying employment opportunities.

"The DeLisle plant's direct contribution in the economic area will be significant. During construction, wages paid at the site topped $20 million. An additional $25 million was spent with local businesses.

"Now that the plant is complete, these economic contributions will continue at a lower but steady level. Wages for our permanent work force will exceed $12 million a year.

"We now have more than 500 permanent employees at the plant, more than 85 percent hired locally. Gordon Howell and his staff worked with the Mississippi Employment Service to select employees from more than 5,000 applicants.

"Our practice is to hire the best people and train them to do the job one way - the safe way. No priority is higher than safety at Du Pont.

"And this philosophy has paid off. We are the safest company in the world. If this plant is like other plants, DeLisle employees will be 52 times safer on the job than they would be working in any other industry in the country.

"In fact, statistics show Du Pont employees are safer on the job than they are at home.

"In addition to providing safe jobs, our aim is to provide challenging, long-term career opportunities. If DeLisle is like our other sites, we would expect that a large proportion of the employees will spend their entire careers with Du Pont, and many of their sons and daughters will work at Du Pont as well. It is not uncommon to find three generations from the same family working at some of our plants.

"In addition to steady jobs and what they mean to a community, we estimated that plant purchases from local suppliers of goods and services will exceed $15 million a year.

"Overtime, we invite you to judge us on these criteria. We will work to earn your trust as we have in our other plant communities around this country and throughout the world.

"Thanks to the hospitality of those of you here today, Du Pont already feels at home in Mississippi.

"On behalf of the company and all its people, may I say that we hope all of you will be as happy with our decision to locate at DeLisle as we are."

PUBLIC NOTICE

BEACH BOULEVARD HISTORIC DISTRICT

Certain properties in and near Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, will be considered by the Mississippi Historic Preservation Professional Review Board on January 17, 1980, for nomination to the National Register of Historic Places, the federal government's list of historic buildings and other cultural resources worthy of preservation. Properties to be nominated lie within the proposed Beach Boulevard Historic District, an irregularly shaped area of some 175 acres roughly in the shape of a crescent lying within the boundaries of Bay St. Louis along and to the west of Beach Boulevard and including a large part of the city, as shown on the adjacent map.

Listing in the National Register makes private property owners eligible to be considered for federal grants-in-aid for historic preservation and provides limited protection through comment by the President's Advisory Council on Historic Preservation on the effect of federally financed, assisted, or licensed undertakings on historic properties.

If a depreciable property is listed in the National Register, it may be affected by certain provisions of the Tax Reform Act of 1976, Section 2124 of which encourages preservation of historic depreciable structures by allowing favorable tax treatments for rehabilitations while discouraging destruction of historic buildings by eliminating certain otherwise-available federal tax benefits both for demolition of historic structures and for new construction on sites of demolished historic buildings.

If a property containing coal resources is listed in the National Register, certain provisions of the Surface Mining and Control Act of 1977 make it less likely that surface mining of coal will be permitted by the state or federal government.

Comments on whether the proposed district should be nominated to the National Register should be sent to Robert J. Bailey, Deputy State Historic Preservation Officer and Secretary to the Review Board, P.O. Box 571, Jackson, Mississippi 39206. To be considered, comments must be received before the Review Board considers this nomination on January 17, 1980. A copy of the nomination is on file in department of Archives and History offices at 600 East Amite Street, Jackson, Mississippi, and is available for public inspection during regular business hours.

The proposed Beach Boulevard Historic District is a part of a larger proposed Multiple Resources of Bay St. Louis nomination. Owners of properties included in the Multiple Resources of Bay St. Louis nomination but outside the Beach Boulevard Historic District have been sent by mail a notice similar to the foregoing notice.

Goodman loses close decision

The Bay Kiln-Waveland Boxing Club participated in four matches during the weekend at a match hosted by the Kenner, La. Recreation Department.

Joe Louis Goodman of Pearlington lost a split decision against Ralph DuPree in a semi-main event fight.

"This was the worst case of robbery I have seen in four or five years," Bay-Kiln-Waveland Head Coach John Whisenhunt said following the bout.

"After the decision I wanted to see the fight sheets because I thought there may have been an error in the tabulation. Two judges gave the fight to the Kenner boxer and one gave it to us with a 60-57 score," the coach continued.

"Joe kept his opponent in trouble all through the fight. DuPree was cut and bleeding from above and below his right eye. Joe's stinging left jab kept DuPree on the defense and swinging wildly," Whisenhunt added.

Stanley (Snakes) Christmas, a 150 pound 14-year-old, defeated David Carver in three two-minute rounds.

"From the middle of the second round it was all Snakes. He hit Carver with left right combinations and followed with left hooks which kept his opponent backpeddling," Whisenhunt said.

"Snakes never misses a night of work out at the gym. He goes through the basic training procedures very well. We will be seeing a lot of good things from this native of Bay St. Louis in the future," he added.

Jerry Carson received a low blow in the final part of the second round in a scheduled three-rounder.

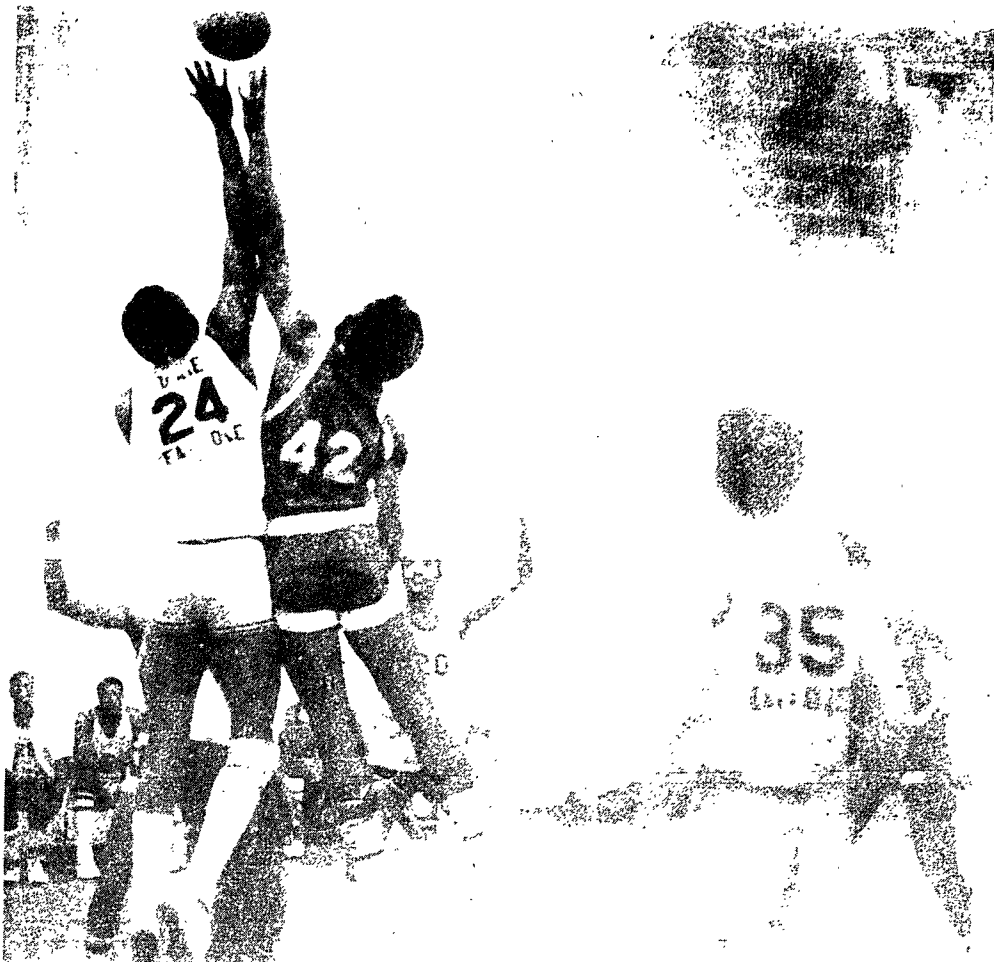

"The doctor said Jerry will be alright in a day or so. Jerry will see action next week in Louisiana," Whisenhunt said.

Maling his fighting debut was Lanny Schwartz, a 21-year-old 161-pounder from Pearlington.

Lanny fought a good fight against Barney Mitchell of the Kenner Recreation Department, according to Whisenhunt.

"Lanny said he wants to get in as much experience as possible before Golden Glove competition, which will occur in February in Hattiesburg," Whisenhunt said.

Coaching from the corner was James Vigreux of Waveland.

Homesteaders lead Hancock Women

The Homesteaders still lead the Hancock Women Bowling League by three games.

Anything Goes follows, but are catching up to regain the top position as Merline Mitchell rolled a 200 game.

Shears Delight took all four games to take third place by total pins. The Good Times are tied with Shears Delight in games, and everyone on both teams are bowling way above their averages.

The Lucky Sevens went down a notch to fifth place after the last competition, but probably won't stay there long as Dianna Culotta rolled a 409 series.

Ruth's Pin Pushers are in sixth place, moving up a place from last week's seventh. Bert Neacise rolled a 407 series to assist her team in moving up.

The Goof Offs dropped a notch to eighth place.

The Trouble Shooters are in ninth place but lost a few games by only a couple of pins last week.

The Blankety-Blanks are in 10th position, with Juanita Shubert breaking 200 with her first 201 game. Her average is 122.

The Lucky Ladies won three games this week to pull up the crowd in the cellar.

Westiders report standings

The Knock Knockers remained in first place in the Westsiders Bowling League last week as Mike Johnson rolled three strikes on Dec. 2 and four on Dec. 9 for a 206 game and a 506 series.

Norman Scott also recorded three strikes on that team. The second place Late Starters were spurred by George Dupont, who picked up a 1-2-4 split Dec. 2 and a 5-7 split on the ninth.

Richard Meadows of the Late Starters received two patches, 175 game and 500 series patch, along with recording a 186 game and 515 series.

The Frozen Fire's Teresa Carr picked up a 5-7 split and Harvey Mitchell recorded a 5-9-7 split return for their games.

The Tween Us are in fourth place with Mike Stringer picking up four strikes on his way to a 187 game and 506 series, picking up two patches in the effort.

Christy Stringer also recorded three strikes during that game.

The Spares finish up the standings as Elmer Thornton picked up a 5-10 split and Jo Thornton knocked off a 2-7 split and recorded three strikes.

Gloria McAtee also recorded three strikes on that team.

keeping you in touch

By F. M. Kyle, Jr.
Gulf Coast District Manager

The holiday season is a great time to renew old friendships and visit with relatives by long distance. Reach out and share your holiday happenings with faraway loved ones with a long distance call.

This year, don't wait until Christmas Day to call. Call early—at least a day ahead—and you'll avoid the possibility of calling delays which might be caused by the tremendous number of calls made on holidays.

Here are some more tips that will save you time and money on long distance calls:

- Dial long distance calls yourself, the One-Plus* way, and save money. One-Plus calls cost less than operator-assisted calls.
- Organize your calls. Make a list of things you want to discuss before you call.
- If you're cut off during a long distance call or have a poor connection, both parties should hang up. Then, the party who originated the call should notify the operator who will re-establish the call and adjust the charge for the interrupted time.
- If members of your family are away from home, set a specific time to call them or have them call you. Then you can gather the whole family at the scheduled time for a nice visit by long distance.
- Keep a list of those numbers you frequently call—both in town and far away. List the numbers in a personal directory or on the Quick List on your directory cover, and you'll have them when and where you need them.
- To get the phone number of someone living in a distant city, dial 1, plus the area code (if different from your own), plus 555-1212.

*One-Plus rates do not apply to Zero-Plus dialed calls, operator-handled calls, coin telephone calls, or calls from a hotel or motel.

SENIOR CITIZEN EVENTS

by Ms. Pete Carr

The Senior Citizens' Art
Exhibit at the Hancock County Library received not a little praise at Open House held last Friday.

Mrs. Cherie Arceneaux, director of the cultural enrichment program for the aging under SMPDD presided as hostess and was pleased with the showing of each individual's efforts, as was Carl Balducci.

We were all happy to see Carl's wife with him and enjoyed her company.

All of us were encouraged by the show of interest of the Special Education teachers and their Director (Brenda Scaffidi) as well as the comments made by our Mayor, Larry Bennett and all who attended. It will spur us on to our greater efforts this coming year.

Last Monday, Dec. 10 the Retired Senior Citizens Volunteer Program held their annual State-Wide Christmas party and over 600 volunteers were able to attend.

Jim Hode, Director of the Recreational Center and Charles Johnson, Conductor of our Singing Seniors drove the group to Vicksburg.

Gerry Blanchard, Lucille Witter and Celeste Proulx assisted and altogether they had a wonderful day.

HIGH SCHOOL ENGINEERS

Entrants to this year's engineering model contest, sponsored by the Mississippi Engineering Society, will build a scaled-down version of a cantilevered structure from balsa wood and white glue.
The structure could be used to support a roof, stadium airplane wing, stairway or bridge. Entries will be judged and tested for greatest load capacity in the School of Engineering laboratories at Ole Miss on Feb. 9. Teachers or principals of high schools desiring to participate must register students by Jan. 25.
Further details, contest rules and model specifications are available from the Ole Miss Department of Civil Engineering, University, MA
38677.

After opening prayers at the party, Charles Johnson and his group was invited to lead everyone in the singing of Christmas Carols and the hall resounded with the joyful voices raised with the true message of Christmas.

Aline Taylor, director of the Vicksburg program sang a solo number-O Holy Night and everyone's heart was touched with the beauty of her voice.
Nashville supplied an entertainer as well as some of Vicksburg's local talent. All in all it was a great party.

Our group was taken to the Glass House for dinner and also were taken for a tour of Vicksburg's battleground during the Civil War-a most historical and impressive site to see.

While Christmas Carolers going from door to door is of an era long past, different groups are visiting each other raising their voices with songs of the Christmas message of good cheer and hope.

One of these was the Lutheran Church of the Pines which held a Christmas party for the Day Care people this past Tuesday.

The Child Development Center will be entertained by the Singing Seniors and today
(Thursday) the Bay-Waveland Headstart program will be entertained by the Center.

The Senior Citizens Social Club held their Christmas luncheon at the Pepper Mill in Waveland and all enjoyed their annual get together.

It's fun to share Christmas greetings with the various groups.

Don't forget Monday, Dec.
17, Dave McDonald and Theresa James and their respective staffs joined together in organizing entertainment and little surprises for our Christmas party to held that day at the American Legion Hall in Bay
St. Louis at 12:30 p.m.

So be sure to come and share the Christmas Spirit with your peers.

Safety Commission recalling infant toys and cribs

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission and retail distributors are recalling infant toys and cribs which have been determined unsafe.

The CPSC announced it is recalling a toy called an infant crib exerciser which poses a strangulation hazard, and also two types of baby cribs which pose a strangulation threat.

Montgomery Ward is recalling toy telephone sets which may cause electrical shock, and the R. Dankin and Company is asking eight different types of stuffed toy mobiles be returned.

Approximately 1,000 toys which may pose a hazard to infants are being recalled by the toy's retailer, the F.A.O. Schwarz Company, of New York City.

The recall is being conducted in cooperation with the (CPSC).

The toy, known as an infant crib exerciser, consists of a red elastic cord strung with colored wooden beads and rings. The 17-inch elastic cord poses a potential strangulation hazard to infants who could become entangled in the cord, the CPSC announced.

The toy was imported from J. Schwanek, a manufacturer in West Germany, and was sold in F.A.O. Schwarz stores for $7.95 between July, 1976 and January, 1979.

The foreign manufacturer stated that it has stopped producing this toy.

Consumers who purchased the crib exerciser from F.A.O. Schwarz can receive a full refund by returning the toy to any F.A.O. Schwarz store with proof-of-purchase.

Alarmed that parents may be exposing their infants to possible strangulation by continued use of two dangerous types of baby cribs, the CPSC again urged consumers to participate in a program to eliminate the hazard.

This announcement involves cribs manufactured by Bassett Furniture Industries, Inc., of Bassett, Virginia.

The Bassett cribs requiring modification include the "Mandalay" and "Candlelite" style beds. They were designed in such a way that infants can trap their heads between a corner post and the headboard (or footboard), and strangle as the stand on the crib bed.

CPSC has received six reports of such deaths among infants since September, 1977. CPSC simultaneously expressed concern as to whether similarly designed baby cribs produced by other manufacturers may be posing hazards to infants.

CPSC and Bassett announced a voluntary program to modify the cribs in May, 1978. Since then, only 1,000 of the "Mandalay" cribs reportedly have been modified (less than 20 percent of the estimated 5,800 Mandalay cribs produced).

Approximately 1,200 of the 1,654 Candlelite cribs have been repaired, Bassett reported to CPSC.

Bassett recently agreed to produce thousands of large wall posters warning parents of the hazard posed by the cribs and to have them distributed to pediatricians nationwide for display in physician's waiting rooms.

DETAIL OF "MANDALAY" CRIB ALERT

The Mandalay cribs were produced with a bamboo-like motif, and include models 5126-505 and 5261-505 (painted yellow) and 5225-505 (painted white). The model numbers can be found on an adhesive label affixed to the inside of the headboard below the mattress level.

The cribs were manufactured from February, 1974, through October, 1976, and sold for approximately $100 to $125 in retail stores nationwide.

Parents immediately should remove all four finials (the decorative knobs on top of each cornerpost) by unscrewing them.

Consumers then should

December, 1975, to mid-

October, 1977.

Consumers who have not had their Candlelite cribs modified should contact the store where it was purchased to arrange for free installation of modifying parts to close the openings in the headboards and footboards.

Parents also can arrange to have these cribs repaired by contacting their nearest Bassett retailer, whose name can be obtained from the telephone directory or by calling Bassett at the number listed above.

Until the Candlelite cribs have been repaired, parents should push one end of the crib against a wall and move a high piece of furniture (such as a chest of drawers) against the other end.

OTHER CRIBS

CPSC staff is trying to determine whether baby cribs other than those manufactured by Bassett are designed terry-operated toy telephones connected with a detachable cord. Children could try to force the two-prong plugs at each end of the cord into household sockets and get severe shock or burns.

The ivory-colored sets have "Mehanoteknika" printed on the bottom of each phone.

The sets have been sold through Ward's catalogs since 1975. They are advertised in the current Christmas catalog as a "Desk Phone Set," number 58T20192, retail price $9.96.

Consumers should return the toy to any Montgomery Ward catalog store for a full refund. Those with questions may contact CPSC's toll-free Hotline at 800-638-8326 or call the Mississippi State Board of Health at 354-6616.

Also, some 422,000 stuffed mobile toys which could cause babies to strangle are being recalled.

The R. D. Dankin and Company recall applies to eight different types of stuffed animal mobiles which are intended to be suspended from ceilings by three elastic cords.

Last month an 11-month-old baby girl strangled when she became entangled in the elastic cords suspending a toy from her crib, according to the CPSC.

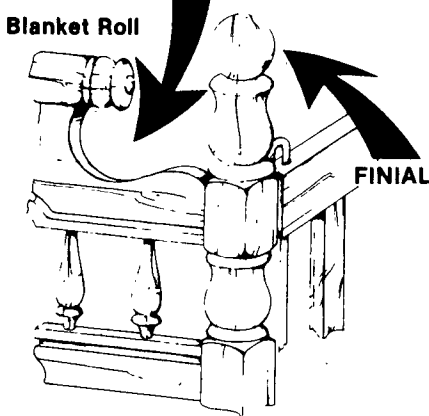

The toys being recalled include Humbug Bee, Embo Elephant, Jolly Parrot, Stanley Stork, Jingle Frog, Lucky Ladybug, Ducksoop, and Jingle Lamb.

Each toy is covered with plush fabric and contains a musical chime device.

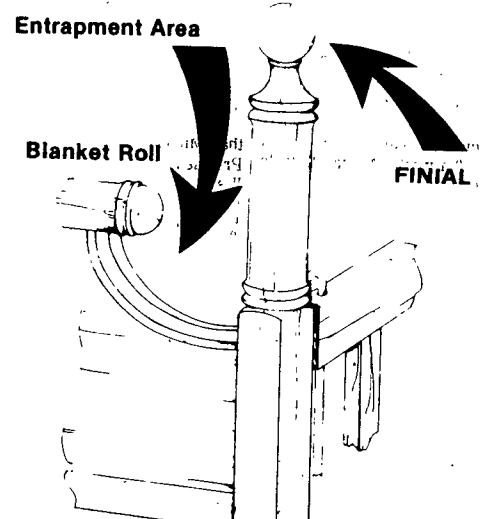

Parents should return the toys to the store where they were purchased for a full refund. Consumers who wish to keep the toy should cut off the three elastic cords in order to eliminate the potential safety hazard.

Anyone requiring additional information about this recall may call CPSC's toll-free Hotline at 800-638-8326 or Mississippi State Board of Health at 354-6616.

report that they have removed the finials by contacting the retailer from which the crib was purchased or the nearest Bassett crib dealer.

(Reporting the modification will help Bassett and CPSC maintain an accurate record of the number of cribs repaired.)

Bassett crib dealers can be found by checking the "Yellow Pages" section of the telephone directory under the listing "Furniture - Children's," or by placing a collect call to Bassett at 703-629-7511, extension 340.

DETAILS OF "CANDLELITE" CRIB ALERT

The Candlelite style cribs were manufactured with a traditional colonial design in models 5028-505 and 5028-510 (stained in maple) and 5127-505 and 5127-510 (stained in pine). These model numbers also are printed on a label attached to the inside of the headboard below the mattress.

The cribs sold for approximately $100 in retail stores nationwide, and were manufactured from with headboard and footboard openings which may pose potential safety hazards to infants.

Consumers who are aware of such cribs are urged to report the brand name and model number to CPSC's toll-free Hotline at the following numbers: in the continental U.S., dial 800-638-8326; in Maryland, 800-492-8363; and in Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, 800-638-8333.

In addition, concerned parents can protect their infants by pushing one end of these cribs against a wall and positioning a tall piece of furniture against the other end. Parents also should unscrew all four finials on such cribs where possible.

Montgomery-Ward is recalling some 20,000 toy telephone sets offered for sale through its mail-order catalog, announced the CPSC and Mississippi State Board of Health.

The phone sets, imported from Yugoslavia, are similar to those another U.S. FIRM RECALLED LAST MONTH. The sets include two bat-

Military Mention

LT. G.W. VON ANTZ
Coast Guard Lt. Gerald W. Von Antz, son of Geraldine Von Antz of Bay Royal Apartments, and whose wife, Mary, is the daughter of Russell W. and Mary Chapman of 230 Felicity St., all of Bay St. Louis, has been awarded the Air Medal.

He was cited for meritorious achievement in aerial flight on Jan. 20, 1979 while serving as the pilot and aircraft commander of a Coast Guard HH-52A "Sea Guard" helicopter based at the Coast Guard Air Station, Houston.

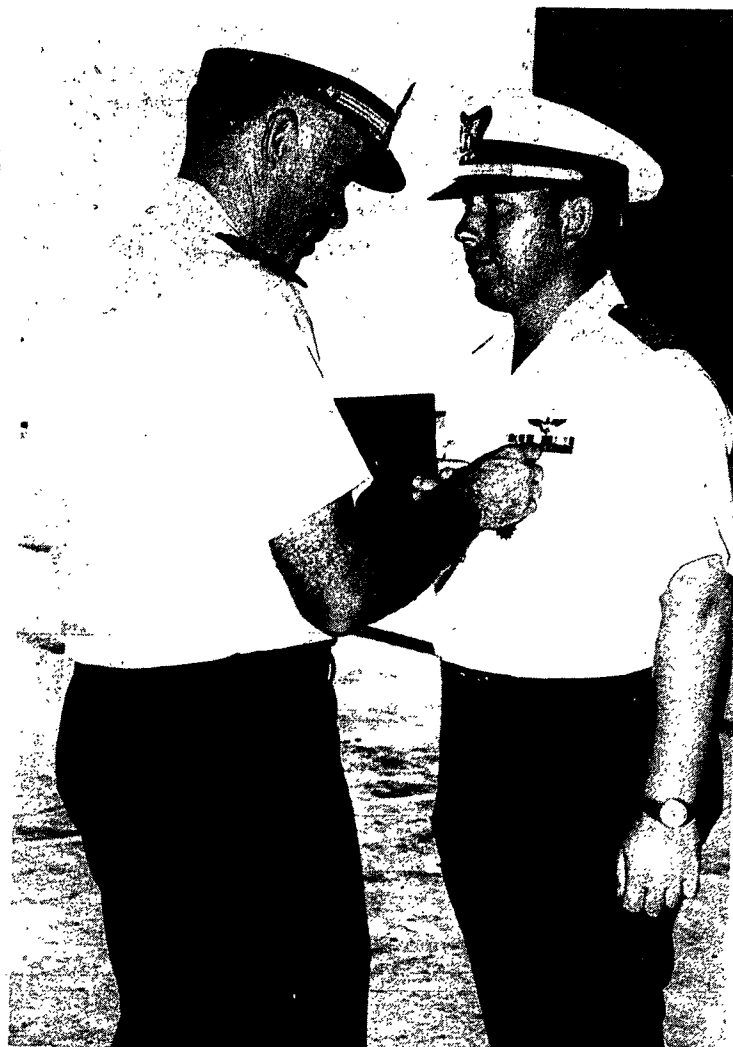

The citation accompanying his medal praises Von Antz for his participation in the rescue of eight people from two sailing vessels which had run aground in Galveston Bay.

He located the first vessel, Buffet's Fault, wallowing in the surf. Despite turbulence, the lack of visual reference, impending darkness and the violently swinging mast, he maneuvered the aircraft into a position to hoist the victims aboard.

After transferring five persons to shore, he proceeded to the other vessel, two miles away, and hoisted two persons aboard.

Then as darkness descended, he returned to Buffet's Fault and rescued the final member of its crew.

A 1968 graduate of Bay Senior High School, and a 1972 graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi, Hattiesburg, with a bachelor of arts degree, Von Antz joined the Coast Guard in April, 1972.

VON ANTZ GETS AIR MEDAL—Capt. Clyde Lusk, left, of the United States Coast Guard's Eighth District Headquarters in New Orleans, awards the Air Medal to Lt. Gerald W. Von Antz of Bay St. Louis and currently stationed at the USCG Air Station in Houston, Tex. Von Antz was cited for his role earlier this year in an air-sea rescue of eight persons. (SUGC photo)

Consumer Specialist offers money saving health care tips

"MONEY TALK"

By NORINE BARNES
The costs of health care have increased more than most personal expenses in recent years. Last year many families spent 10-15 percent of income on health care. There is little consumers can do to combat these high costs, but there are a few measures that can be taken.

For example, people should choose their doctor before they get sick. It is better to have a doctor who knows the patient's medical history diagnose a problem.

Make a list of questions to ask before going to the doctor.

Also, a regular check-up may help detect a minor problem before it worsens.

A healthy diet, enough rest and exercise, and recommended immunizations will help maintain good health.

Call your Extension Home Economist to find out what makes a healthy diet. Most families cannot afford to spend money on non-nutritious food. Also, families will most likely spend less at the doctor's office if they eat correctly.

People who must be admitted to the hospital for surgery should determine whether the hospital has same-day admission and surgery policies. This practice can help reduce costs, but should have the doctor's approval.

Friday admission should be avoided if treatment won't begin until Monday, thus avoiding charges for the weekend.

When medication is prescribed, the patient should ask the doctor whether it is possible to use the drug prescribed in its generic name, or by a less expensive brand name.

Also, patients required to take medicine regularly should consider trying to purchase it in larger quantities, which may save money. The only way to find out if it is cheaper to buy in quantity is to ask your pharmacist.

Many times a pharmacist can give you information concerning side effects. If there is doubt about a reaction, it is wise sometimes to get only half of the prescription if possible.

Piano recital set tonight

Four Hancock County youths will participate in a piano recital to be conducted at Phillips Business College in Gulfport tonight at 7:30 p.m.

The recital will be sponsored by the Mississippi Gulf Coast Piano teachers Association.

The area students are Andrew Foy, Joseph Oberal, Nolan Merchand, and Raymond Wallace III, all from Kathleen Asher's Studio in Waveland.

The public is invited to attend the recital free of charge.

The association recently conducted a meeting at the home of Jeanie Pollard in Northwood Hills in Gulfport.

In addition to planning the recital, a general business session was conducted.

Special guest at the meeting was Rev. Kelly Pope, pastor of the Ramsey United Methodist Church in North Gulfport.

He sang 'Do You Hear What I Hear' and 'Born A King.' He was accompanied on the piano by Ann Rollins.

It was announced that the association will meet on the third Thursday of January and February. Anyone interested in joining the association may call Ms. Asher at 467-7409 or 467-5591.

The next meeting will be conducted at the home of Mrs. Gay Grades in Gulfport on Jan. 17.

Navy by Ingalls Shipbuilding of Litton Industries. The commissioning will mark the seventh destroyer and the eighth major combatant delivered by Ingalls to the U.S. Fleet during 1979. In addition to the seven destroyers delivered this year, Ingalls delivered an LHA amphibious assault ship, O'Bannon is the third Navy destroyer named in honor of the Marine Corps hero, First Lieutenant Presley Neville O'Bannon (1776-1850).

One of the many actions in which Marines have taken a decisive part occurred one hundred and seventy three years ago during the Tripolitan War in North Africa. In 1805, a handful of Marines, led by Lieutenant O'Bannon, spearheaded a successful assault on the city of Derna, routing troops of the hostile Pasha of Tripoli and planting the American flag for the first time on an old world fortress.

O'Bannon's daring and valor during the exploit is today immortalized in the first stanza of the Marine Hymn by the words, "to the shores of Tripoli."

General Robert H. Barrow, Commandant of the Marine Corps, and Mrs. Barrow, will be among the official guests at Saturday's ceremony. Mrs. Barrow sponsored O'Bannon at the ship's christening held in January of this year. O'Bannon will be commanded by Commander Marshall R. Willenbacher of Newport, Rhode Island, and homeported in Charleston, South Carolina.

Bay students are Phi Kappa pledges

Two Bay St. Louis residents, Robbie Boyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Boyd, and Don Cor, Jr., son of Mrs. Donald E. Cor, Sr., were among the 30 Phi Kappa Tau pledges during recent formal rush activities at the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg.

The Beta Epsilon chapter of Phi Kappa Tau, founded at USM in 1948, is the oldest of the ten national fraternities chartered on the campus.

Auto Association suggests:

Make the holiday party a safe one

A little too much "good cheer" could dampen your holiday spirits, and the Central Gulf Division of the American Automobile Association wants local motorists who plan to celebrate the holidays with some traditional toasting to keep in mind that drinking and driving don't mix.

Since this season brings together family and friends at festive occasions, AAA hopes to help make every party a success...the morning after...through its annual "First a Friend...Then a Host" campaign in Louisiana and Mississippi.

The campaign is designed to remind hosts that their first responsibility is to see that guests—their friends—leave the party in a condition to make it home safely.

"It's no secret that accident rates increase during the holiday season," said Clem Buckman, traffic safety manager. "Statistics have shown that many traffic fatalities and injuries result through the carelessness of intoxicated drivers."

Through its "First a Friend...Then a Host" program, AAA suggests keeping the following tips in mind:

—Hosts can mix the first drink for guests, but should set up a self-service bar for the remainder of the party. Guests tend to make less potent drinks if they mix their own.

—Non-alcoholic beverages should be provided along with other drinks.

—It's unwise to pressure non-drinking party goers to have "just one."

—Party-givers do well to push food instead of drinks throughout the party. Providing a tempting and lavish display of rich and starchy snacks and main dishes can help guests slow down the absorption of alcohol into their bloodstream.

—Even though they don't have to drive, hosts can set an example by not over-indulging in alcohol.

—Dancing, games and conversation will keep guests circulating and divert attention from the bar.

—About an hour before the party ends is the time for plenty of good, hot coffee. It will not sober anyone up, but it's a good substitute for that "one for the road."

And what if there are tipsy guests at the end of the evening, despite all party planning? Tactfully arranging transportation home or letting them "sleep it off" overnight are the only safe alternatives, Buckman said. "Plan your party for those who have to drive when it's over."

Drinking and driving don't mix
